

Datanet Engineering is an environmental engineering and fuel system construction company based out of Owings Mills, MD. We have been in business since 1983 and are expanding our installation/construction division of the company.

We are seeking experienced or entry level petroleum tank installers. Installation work includes but is not limited to excavation, piping, tank installation, cathodic protection installation, use of heavy machinery, wiring and electronics, testing and much more. MDE certified and entry level positions are available now. Candidate will be motivated, reliable, work safely and have a strong work ethic. Candidate must have clean driving record and be drug-free. Pre-employment drug screening required as well as periodic random testing. Candidates with CDL Class A license is not required but needed. All DOT certified individuals must also pass a driving history review. Competitive pay, vacation, holiday, health and dental benefits, and more! We continue to train and certify our employees with a variety of programs available. Join our team of dedicated installers and begin your exciting career in the highly diverse fuel system industry today! .

Qualifications:

- Good oral and written communication skills.
- A positive attitude and team player with the expectation of success.
- Valid driver's license with excellent driving record
- Able to lift 100 lbs., climb ladders, work in standing and kneeling positions for extended time periods.
- Accurately create written documentation of field activities in English.
- Well organized. Ability to work well under pressure, manage competing demands and meet tight deadlines with strong follow through.
- Ability to foster a close working relationship with team members and management.
- Self-disciplined, high energy, organized, customer focused, problem solver, good listener, trust builder with expectation of success.
- MDE Certified Tank Technician or Remover is a plus.
- Other state certified installers license's are also welcome.
- Salary – Dependent upon experience range - $30k - $70k

Contact our office for more information to work for a growing fuel system construction and engineering company.

Contact: Jen at 410-654-1800 or email at info@datanetengineering.com.